SUBSTATIONS DISCUSSED BY ELECTRICALS

Fred Howes Gives Interesting Paper

CONSTRUCTION

Clear Description of Methods
in Present Use

The members and visitors who were present at the Electrical Club meeting last night, which was not as large as it might have been, enjoyed a treat, in the paper which was given by Fred Howes.

The subject of this meeting was "Substation Construction" and the paper dealt with the details of the electrical section of the new Canadian plant of the Ford Motor Company of Canada.

The plant is situated at Ford City, near Windsor, Ontario, directly across the Detroit River from the city of Detroit. In general, coal is landed from the river boats and is distilled to remove the gas, and the gas burned to generate steam to drive the electric generators. This electric power is used in the machines in the factory and the substation is the centre from which it is distributed to the different parts of the factory.

After giving a general outline of the layout of the substation Mr.
Howes proceeded to describe the details of the different pieces of apparatus therein and along with the details, gave very interesting points on the processes of assembling the different electrical machinery. The pictures thrown on the screen were very instructive and served to illustrate many of the points referred to.

The subject is one that concerns practically all electrical students and Howes succeeded remarkably well in covering the main points of the field. It was very unfortunate that there was no time for a discussion for the number of interesting points brought up would certainly have brought forth numerous questions but for the lateness of the hour when the paper was completed.

A very hearty vote of thanks was extended to Howes for his trouble in preparing the paper.

He was sent to college to get an education. After four years this is what he learned: The latest fox-trot steps, how to climb the stairs quietly at 3.00 a.m., the words of several popular songs, how to smoke cigarettes in the manner of the Shiek, that a good hockey player cuts more ice than a Rhodes scholar, that the fly of the field is truly an admirable flower.
He graduated and was a great success
—as a doorman.

as he finished the first part of the Inferno.

DANCING COUPLES ANIMATE BALLROOM

Over 250 Students Enjoy
Second Informal

Last night the second informal of the McGill dancing season was put on with great success. Everything contributed to a splendid evening's entertainment and anyone who did not enjoy the dance had something radically wrong with him.

The Assembly Hall was tastefully decorated in Red and White and the moon at one end and the "wise old Owl" at the other kept an eye on the dancers. The McGill Dance Orchestra supplied the melody for the occasion and lived up, in every respect, to advance notices. In the matter of refreshments the Union Cafeteria supplied the usual excellent lunch and, although the Cafeteria Manager, Mr.
Honegger, has been ill for some days, he turned up for the evening to see that everything possible was done for the guests. All were served in quick order and after "the cats" the footwrigglers stepped out with more enthusiasm than before. The punch was a real thirst-quencher and the punchbowl held a prominent attraction at all times during the evening. The following ladies were present:

LA PRESSE VISITED BY RADIO CLUB

McGill Association Views
Practical Installation
STATION C.K.A.C.

Trips to Operating Stations
Supplements Regular Meetings

Characterized by the neatness and simplicity and the orderly arrangements of the apparatus, radio broadcasting station C. K. A. C.—La Presse—was visited Thursday afternoon at five o'clock by the Radio Association of McGill.

Perched on the roof of the La Presse Building and reached by an additional flight of steps after the elevator has attained its maximum height, is the suite of rooms in which is housed station C. K. A. C., and from which it broadcasts its tri-weekly programs.

An ante-room, fitted as an office and possessing as sole betrayer of that which lies beyond, a crystal and loop receiving set with which the station listens-in to its own broadcasting precedes the main room which is flanked at the far end by the apparatus rooms with walls and ceiling covering of, purple plush overlying some twelve inches of felt padding which absorbs the vibrations of the news plant below, and deadens all external sound, the broadcasting room fitted with several expensive musical instruments and furnished with easy chairs and pettes, presents the inviting appearance of a lounge room. At one end of this room, set into a recess in the wall is the Casavant organ made especially for La Presse, and suspended in front of it and over one's head is the special microphone that is used solely in conjunction with the organ.

A Duo-Art Steinway Grand takes up one corner of the spacious rooms, while two gramophones, piano lamps and other fixtures complete the furnishings.

A portable and adjustable alternating current, sixty cycle, push and pull type of microphone is the general utility instrument which transmits the programme to the amplifiers and modulators, which in turn release the messages to an eager audience comprised within the confines of a 430 wave length.

EXQUISITE COLORS IN MANUSCRIPTS

Collection Purchased by Dr.
Gerhard Lomer

What constitutes years of work on the part of old artists in the form of marvelously illuminated French, English and Italian manuscripts, purchased by the University from a fund provided by Lady Roddick and the late Sir Thomas Roddick are being unpacked and will be displayed in the reading room of the library in the near future. The works of art were purchased in England this summer by Dr. Gerhard Lomer, University Librarian.

Among the remarkably artistic works are a representation of the Adoration of the Magi, French 15th century work, and superb conceptions of "The Visitation" "The Coronation of the Virgin" and "The Presentation in the Temple," which is also French 15th century work. A few pages of a book, of the same period show the heights of the border decoration reached by French artist-craftsmen of that age. Italian illuminated work is represented by pages exquisitely decorated with miniatures in blues, reds, and golds and by manuscripts with writing which differs little except in beauty from modern printing. In the collection is also a Hindu drawing in gold and black with faint touches of colour of great fineness and delicacy, the gift of F. C. Morgan.

An adequate idea of the beauty,
the exquisite design, and the delicate colouring of the collection can be gained only by actual inspection of it.

Why pass a Ford? There's always another one ahead.

"Did you see the watch on her knee?"

"What time was it?"

was rather fast."—Black and Blue Jay.

MONTREAL, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1923.

SINCERITY

In the common utterances of every-day life, how many of us are really sincere? Is there not a tendency to make a statement with but little thought beforehand? This is only too true in passing conversation and in the class-room. Many express an opinion which on questioning and analysis appears to have no previous foundation of thought.

College education is not basically a course in memory-training, but rather a method of mental cultivation to which is apprehended an array of solid findings to smooth the pathway of our experience. Individuals are judged by their spoken expressions alone. There is no other way of estimating human mental capacity and quality. Collegians especially are keenly analysed by the outside world. It is expected that they have developed an orderly system of thought and possess a varied knowledge of present day topics as well as their studies, so that when a query is asked a moment suffice to assemble a presentable opinion which will have some base that cannot be refuted. Therefore it behooves us to build up some working plan to co-ordinate speech and thought, that a fitting declaration may be made, in keeping with our mental development.

THE CALL TO PRAYER

The call to prayer, the greatest call that can be given to human being, has again gone forth. Next Sunday has been set aside as a Universal day of Prayer for students the world over.

There is a sign in an office within the precincts of McGill that has upon it in large letters the simple word think and it is to thinking students that the call to prayer goes forth. Stop to think for but a moment and there will be no question as to why students should have a day of prayer set aside.

In far off China there is the Renaissance and in Germany various Youth Movements. All over the world from Canada in the North to Australia in the South, students are seeking, seeking for something and there is a part that every student who feels the need of this something can play and that part is to pray.

Prayer at McGill is to be centred around a meeting to take place in Strathcona Hall at 9.45 Sunday morning and every student is welcome to come and join in the universal call for guidance.

BISHOP OF LONDON TO SPEAK AT HALL

S.C.A. and Catholic Truth Society

A meeting will be held in Strathcona Hall next Wednesday night when Rev. M. F. Fallon, Bishop of London will give an address on the subject, "The Claim of the Catholic Church on the Intellectual Alliance."

The meeting is the result of negotiations between the Catholic Truth Society of Canada and the S. C. A. The former organization, sensing in the pronouncement of the S. C. A. an open-minded search for truth believed it was an opportunity not to be overlooked and the McGill body received the suggestion with enthusiasm. It is a piece of rare good fortune that it was possible to have a man who can speak as ably and with such authority as can Bishop Fallon. He has proved himself a leader in his church, a foremost scholar and a man of judgment. He represents a body that has stood the ravages of time and many adverse currents of thought and life yet retains the allegiance of a vast number of people. There is much to be learned from one of its prominent servants. It is not planned that the meeting shall be in any sense, however, a theological lecture. Opportunity will be given for questions and discussion, at the close. It is hoped that advantage of this will be taken by many.

HAYWARD-MEN-TOO-DIGNIFIED

Hallowe'en is a dead issue with the undergraduate declared members of the College police force yesterday when questioned as to whether they would put extra men on duty to watch the College property. They declared the College had misbehaved and there would be no extra trouble due to Hallowe'en.

One of the elder watchmen said: "There was a time when the undergraduate cut loose on Hallowe'en and we had our hands full watching anything that was moveable. Now the undergraduates are too dignified to get any pleasure out of such pranks. Most of them won't even know it's Hallowe'en."

WORLD WIDE FAME OF OLD MCGILL

Commopolitan Club Represents Many Nations

The initial meeting of the Cosmopolitan Club was held Thursday afternoon in Strathcona Hall. The purpose of this meeting was the election of officers for the present year. The elections are as follows:

President—J. Joseph, Law '24
Vice-Pres.—T. Fotos, Arts '24
Sec.—J. Doublet, Arts '25
Treas.—T. Lattini, Law '24
Executive: E. C. Amaron, B. A.
E. B. Childs, G. C. Potter, M. R. Ramjohn, W. H. Tong.

The aim of this club is to bring together the members of the various nationalities represented at McGill; thus enabling them to compare their various countries as to international, political, social and religious relationships. In the past some discussion has been entered into concerning religious relationship. It was thought by some of the members that this might lead to some friction in the club, but it was finally decided that the members were sufficiently broad minded to to overlook personal feelings, so were included under the topics to be discussed.

It is interesting to note that this club is composed of members representing practically all the leading peoples of the world. Giving us some idea as to the world-wide reputation of McGill as an institute of learning. The meeting decided to hold its next gathering at the earliest possible convenience. The date will be announced in the near future.

STUDENT BANQUET A GREAT SUCCESS

Wesleyan Theolog. Heard Mr. Ross, K.C.

At the hour of seven-thirty last evening the theological students of Wesleyan Theological College held their annual banquet in the college dining room. About eighty were present and of these twenty were guests of the evening, including the staff of the college and their wives, representatives from each of the other affiliated Theological colleges and Mr. Howard Ross, K. C., who was the speaker of the evening.

After a turkey dinner had been served A. S. Siscoe the able toastmaster in a few words addressed the assemblage, welcoming the visitors and outlining the ideals of those pursuing the divinity course.

Siscoe then in fitting words proposed a toast to the King to which the gathering replied standing with "God Save the King."

The toast-master called on Eddy the head of the house to propose a toast to the board of governors and the faculty. The toast was witty and brought out well-known characteristics of members of the staff.

The toast was responded to by Mr. J. P. Anglin representing the board of Governors and Dr. Smythe ably spoke for the faculty.

Bow gave an impersonation of a witty negro caught for stealing chickens. Johnson rendered a romantic song.

George Penrose proposed a toast to the sister colleges in which he touched upon the characteristics of each. Mr. D. H. MacVicar of P. C. responded hoping for an even closer tie of unity in the near future.

Norman Jones proposed a toast to and in his vivid descriptions almost stepped on the toes of some present. Mrs. Dr. Smyth handled the part of the ladies in a fitting way and showed that they were essential in the completion of life's cycle.

Dr. Howard Ross, K. C. gave the concluding speech of the programme. His subject was "The Capital and Labor Conflict." Dr. Ross showed that the present system was wrong in that stress was laid at the point of exchange and not at that of production. He showed that the logical unit of exchange should be in terms of labour done. He showed that the natural resources should be free for use and not for profit. Now law is very often a substitute for work in gaining sustenance. Private property should depend on acts of production and not acts of legislation.

Dr. Ross admires the zeal of socialists but does not at all agree with their methods. He showed the men coming out into the ministry that they could do much in bringing about more ideal conditions. The party heartily applauded Dr. Ross and dispersed after "Should auld Acquaintance be Forgot."

The Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir: I wish to call the attention of those interested in Intercollegiate Rugby Football to the fact that the Intercollegiate trophy has not since the war been recognized as the Yates Trophy. This trophy was presented to symbolize the intercollegiate championship in Rugby football, by the late Col. H. B. Yates, who died on service in 1918. The trophy was presented in 1893 and the late Walter Vaughan, Secretary of the University, W. B. Bunting, the late John Dunlop and the undersigned were appointed trustees. I think it is only just to the memory of one who has taken such a deep interest in Rugby football and who was a distinguished player both at Cambridge and McGill that his name should remain associated with the Intercollegiate trophy.

Sincerely Yours,

R. F. Rutan.

Editor, McGill Daily.

Sir: In my address at Strathcona Hall, Monday evening 1, in passing, said I like personally most of the Socialists with whom I have become acquainted, but I tried to make it clear that while admiring their zeal I cannot agree with them as to the method we should adopt in order to give us a more satisfactory social order.

The economic plan which interests me is one which will give us co-operative individualism as against any collectivist plan. Such a plan should preserve individual initiative and private property and make co-operation and self government possible and at the same time abolish special privilege.

Our present semi-socialistic plan, under which we depend too much upon legislation does not give results which warrant a still greater measure of Socialism.

Howard S. Ross.

The party heartily applauded Dr. Ross and dispersed after "Should auld Acquaintance be Forgot."

Mighty Words

"Did your words have any weight with the masses?"

"It looks cheerfully that way," answered Senator Sorghum. "The boys are saying it was one of the heaviest little speeches I ever made."

It certainly gives you a queer feeling to dream of eating shredded wheat biscuits and warup and find the mattress gone.

INTERFACULTY RUGBY TITLE TO MEDICINE

Meds. Have Edge on Opponents Throughout Game

SCORE 13-1

Grassick and Quackenbush for Medicine and Pierce for Law Play Well

Piercingly contesting every inch of ground the Law rugby squad went down to defeat before the determined rush of the strong Medical aggregation yesterday afternoon by a score of 13 to 1, thereby losing the much coveted Interfaculty Championship. After battling their way through one of the hardest seasons in the history of the Inter Faculty League the two teams faced each other on the Old Campus before a large crowd of spectators and in the most interesting game of the year the Meds proved their decided superiority.

Although the game was at all times close the doctors had the better of the play in every department. Only once was their touch line seriously threatened and on that occasion a series of mishaps on the part of the lawyers and Chisholm's excellent kicking got the ball out of danger. Grassick played a stellar game for Medicine making some wonderful runs and plunges. Quackenbush at outside wing was down under the kicks every time, and it was his quickness that gave Medicine their last touch. For the lawyers Pierce was the individual star; he received excellent support from Hume; and Gaboury. Hutchison played a brainy game at quarter and uncorked some beautiful runs. Both lines held well but Medicine had the advantage in weight. Abinovitch the star plunger of the Law team was handicapped by an injury to his knee which he received early in the game.

1st. Quarter

Medicine kicked off from the south end. Abinovitch bucked through for yards on the second down. An end run by Pierce and a buck through the centre gave Law their yards again. Law failed to make yards in three downs and lost the ball. After two bucks Chisholm kicked to Gaboury on the Law 30 yard line. Hutchison failed to gain on an end run to the left. A Law offside gave Medicine the ball. On the third down Chisholm kicked out of touch on the Law three yard line. A buck through the centre gave Medicine their first touch which Chisholm failed to convert. Chisholm received the kick off and run it back ten yards. Two bucks netted eight yards, and Chisholm kicked to Pierce. Quackenbush making a perfect tackle in bringing him down. On a fumbled kick Zinck made a spectacular run of thirty yards. Chisholm's attempted drop failed but Pierce was nailed for a rouge. End of first quarter, score, Medicine 6, Law 0.

2nd. Quarter

The ball was put into scrimmage on Law's twenty-five yard line. Pierce kicked on the third down to Grassick. An offside on the part of Law gave Medicine their yards. Chisholm kicked on the third down to Law's 20 yard line. Hutchison got away for a thirty yard run round the left end. Pierce's kick was blocked. Medicine securing at mid-field. A buck netted eight yards and Chisholm kicked for a rouge. Pierce being downed in his tracks by the Med wings. Law failed to gain on two bucks and Grassick ran back Pierce's kick twenty-five yards. Pierce fumbled Chisholm's kick behind the line and Medicine secured but no score was allowed as he had not been given yards. Play was resumed on Law's twenty-five yard line. An offside kick by Law failed to gain. Chisholm kicked on the first down to Pierce. Grassick received Pierce's kick, but made a bad pass, Law securing. Half time: Medicine-7, Law-0.

3rd. Quarter

Law kicked off. Medicine bucked through for yards but were penalized for offside and then lost the ball on a fumble on their 20 yard line. Law spotted their chance by bad passing and a fumble which lost them the ball. Chisholm kicked out of danger. Hutchison made a brilliant try but was held for an eight yard gain. Pierce's kick rolled over the line and Grassick dribbled it to the dead line for safety giving Law their only point. An exchange of kicks left the play in practically the same position. Cheeseman plunged through for yards for Medicine. End of the third quarter: Medicine-7, Law-1.

4th. Quarter

Chisholm kicked to Pierce at centre field. Hutchison made a brilliant run round the left end for yards. Two bucks gained nothing and Pierce's kick was unbled but Medicine recovered. Two bucks and an excellent kick advanced the Medicine team considerably. Grassick ran back Pierce's kick for ten yards and Cheeseman plunged for ten more. Law stiffened and held Medicine for no gain forcing Chisholm to kick. Duany

BASKETBALL SENIORS TO PLAY M.A.A.A.

Exhibition Game at Peel Street

DECEMBER TENTH

M.S.P.E. to Play M.A.A.A. Girls Same Night

The Senior Basketball team will have its first chance to prove its worth on December 10th. On that date it will meet the M. A. A. A. team in an exhibition game at the Peel Street Club House. On the same evening, it has been arranged for the M. S. P. E. to play the Senior Girls team of the M. A. A. A. The girls game will be played first.

Judging from yesterday's practice at the Montreal High School, the Senior team should have little difficulty in repeating last year's success. In the few practices they have had, the men have shown wonderful improvement and are quickly being moulded into first class aggregation. Hereafter, Coach Van Wagner, who has been training both the senior and the Intermediate "A" squads, will devote his whole attention to the former team, as a new coach has been secured for the latter.

P. J. Doyle of 2nd. year Medicine will take charge of the Intermediate "A" team this year. He has had a great deal of experience and should prove a great asset to what promises to be a championship team. He attended the practice yesterday, but will not assume his duties until next week.

The Intermediate "B" and the Junior men practiced at Molsen Hall yesterday and showed up very well. Coach Manley certainly has a wealth of material to choose from. Some thirty men turned out yesterday, composed of good players picked out at previous practices, and a few new men. There were a few outstanding men, but all did well. The teams have not yet been chosen so there is still a chance for men who have not yet been out, to make a team. Two new rulings will be in effect this year. Regarding free shots, the man who is fouled, will in future shoot his own foul. A ruling which affects the Intercollegiate team only, is to the effect that only eight men will be allowed to a team, and during a game, each spare can substitute in only one position. The results should be far-reaching; the game should be faster and cleaner fouls should be eliminated to a marked degree.

MARITIME-WESTERN DANCE ON DEC. 18TH

The executives of the Maritime and Western Clubs met yesterday at 5.30 p.m. in Strathcona Hall, to decide when and where to hold the proposed Maritime-Western Dance. They believe that the dance should be held before Christmas in order to be a good success. As the Union is already booked up until after Christmas it was decided to have the dance at the Mount Royal Hotel or the Venetian Gardens. The objection was raised that R. V. C. students are not allowed to go to the Venetian Gardens. The executives finally agreed to hold the dance at the Mount Royal on December 18th, the following committee of three was appointed to make the arrangements for the Dance:

Miss Hutchison, J. McDonald, Artery. There will be another meeting before December 18th.

Grassick ran back Pierce's kick for fifteen yards. Medicine gained by an exchange of kicks. On a fumbled catch behind the Law line Quackenbush fell on the ball for a touch which was converted. With one minute to go Law fought desperately but without effect and the whistle blew with the score: Medicine-13, Law-1.

The line-ups were as follows:—

RUGGER GAME FOR McTIER CUP TO-DAY

McGill vs. Montreal This Afternoon

WILL BE CLOSE

Three Games Already Played Resulted in Ties

The McGill English Rugby Team will meet Montreal this afternoon at 2.30 on the Old Campus in the deciding game of the McTier Cup series. The McTier Cup is now in the possession of Montreal. The game promises to be very close and exciting, for the three games already played between McGill and Montreal have resulted in ties.

McGill's line-up is practically the same as in the game with Varsity a week ago, when the score was 3-3. The team is greatly improved, and McGill is confident of victory. It is hoped that the playing field will be in fair condition for the game.

The players will meet in Strathcona Hall at 2.10, in their uniforms, to get a few words of gentle advice from the coach before the struggle. The following men are lined-up (to-day) for McGill:

Full-back—McLeod
Three Quarters—Beaton, Wyge.
Forwards—Cleveland, Brown, Blundell, Walter, Patterson, Hart, Lockhead, McDermid.

INDOOR BASEBALL LEAGUE UNDERWAY

Arts '26 and Meds. '25 Win Over Opponents

In the opening games of the Indoor Basketball League which were played Thursday Arts '26 defeated Com. '25, 10-7 while Med. '25 was victorious over Med. '26, 16-9. Both games were staged in the gymnasium of the Montreal High School and were marked particularly by clever battery work of the winning teams.

The Arts-Commerce game was close and well played. The Arts men combined well together, holding their opponents at all times. Arts secured a small lead in the early stages of the game which they held throughout.

The line up was as follows:—

Arts '26	Com. '25
Catcher
Abinovitch	Kenrick (Capt.)
Pitcher
Drotman (Capt.)	Milne
F. Base
Godine	Punde
S. Base
Johnson	Wiltmer
T. Base
Fogul	Murphy
S. Stop
Held	McRae
L. Field
Myers	McLeod
Perry	Glennie
Wall	Schofield
Spare
Schor
Thompson
Brown

The second game between Med '25 and Med '26 in which Med '25 was victorious by 16-9 was too one-sided to be of much interest. Med. '25 did not have a full team, and only played with six men throughout the whole game. From the very beginning Med. '25 had it all their own way. Henry was in great form for '25 and struck out many of the opposing batsmen. The line-up was as follows:—

Med '25	Med '26
Catcher
Tinkers	Scott
Pitcher
Henry	Phillipott
F. Base
Wright	Ahey
S. Base
Leather	Gemeroy
T. Base
Walker	Chalmers
S. Stop
Forrest	Hamilton
Left Field
McCullough
Turpel

The games were handled by Mr. Dreger. This year, the only floor available for the indoor baseball league is the Montreal High School's gymnasium. This necessitates the employment of the "knockout" system, whereby a team is eliminated on losing a game.

ELECTRONS

Bits of information plucked up here and there—much of interest to engineering students.

The "Nucleus" does not lay any claim to originality this week but after the recent lectures in "Engineering Law" the following, which was cited by Mr. Boss at Strathcona Hall last Monday certainly made a strong appeal.

UNCIVILIZED

By Edmund Vance Cooke

An ancient ape, once on a time, Disliked exceedingly to climb, And so he picked him out a tree And said, "Now this belongs to me. I have a hunch that monks are muffs And I can make them gather nuts And bring the bulk of them to me, By claiming title to this tree."

He took a green leaf and a reed And wrote himself a title-deed, Proclaiming pompously and slow: "All monkeys by these presents know, Next morning, when the monkey came To gather nuts he made his claim, 'All monkeys climbing on this tree Must bring their gathered nuts to me, Cracking the same on equal shares; The meals are mine, the shells are theirs.'"

"By what right?" they cried amazed Thinking the ape was surely crazed. "By this," he answered, "if you'll read You'll find it is a title-deed, Made in precise and formal shape And sworn before a fellow-ape Exactly on the legal plan Used by the wondrous creature, man, In London, Tokio New York, Glengarry, Kalamazoo and Cork. Unless my deed is recognized It proves you quite uncivilized."

"But," said one monkey you'll agree It was not you who made this tree, "Now," said the ape, serene and bland,

"Does any owner make his land, Yet all of its hereditaments Are his and figures in his rents."

The puzzled monkeys sat about; They could not make the question out Plainly by precedent and law, The ape's procedure showed no flaw; And yet, no matter what he said, The stomach still denied the head.

Up spoke one spritely monkey then; "Monkeys are monkeys; men are men. The ape should try his legal capers On men who may respect his papers We don't know deeds; we do know nuts And spite of 'ifs' and 'ands' and 'buts.'"

We know who gathers and un-gathers 'em By monkey practice always eats 'em. So tell the ape and all his flunkies, "No man-tricks can be played on monkeys."

Thus, apes still climb to get their food, Since monkeys minds are crass and crude And monkeys all so ill-advised, Still eat their nuts uncivilized.

The "Nucleus" has been experimenting recently around the advertising columns. The following were referred to in a recent issue of a prominent Engineering Journal.

"Shoe Surface Engineer"—This is apparently our old friend Tony enjoying the benefits of a new title. "Embalmng Engineer"—It is rather doubtful just what kind of a business this friend carries on but one is led to think that he may be some relation to the recently created "Mortician."

"Automotive Painting Engineer"—The title is sufficiently descriptive. While the Extenuating Engineer has been known for some time the periodicals say that an undertaker has recently joined their membership which should make for efficiency—killing two birds with one stone, so to speak.

Some of the "Engineers" have more or less become interested in Physics lately and the following which is also available due to the kindness of Mr. Ross may be of interest to some.

Twinkle, twinkle, little star How I wonder where you are, High up in the sky you shine But according to Einstein, You are not where you pretend, You are just around the bend, And your sweet seductive ray Has been leading men astray All these years—O little star Don't you know how bad you are?

Correct

Teacher—What do elephants have that no other animals have?
Scholar—Little elephants.

Remembered It

Mrs. Niblick—You think so much of your old golf you don't even remember when we were married.
Niblick—Sure I do. It was the day after I sank the 30-foot putt.

She "Are you an idiot?"
He—No, dear! I'm a star tonight.

FINAL GAME OF SOCCER TO-DAY

Champions of Theological and Faculty Leagues Meet

Presbyterian College meets Arts in a soccer game on the Campus at 1.15 to-day.

Arts are champions of the Interfaculty league, and P. C.'s are leaders in the Inter-Theo. league, so that the game to-day is virtually a championship one. Neither team has yet lost a match.

As the students have been showing great interest in soccer, the Executive hope for great things. They are planning an Inter-faculty league, and will have a representative team for exhibition games. Matches with Varsity and Queens are also being arranged.

A large turn-out of students is anticipated for to-day's game, to cheer on their respective teams.

Lineup as follows

ARTS—Goal, Easterbrook; backs, Smith, Stephenson; halves, Briggs, Johnson, Bronson; forwards, Malloy, Eldridge, Seaton, Kolland, Knowles; subs., Robb, Astwood.

PRESBYTERIANS—Goal, Amaron; backs, Hall, Britton; halves, Moore, Glen, McGerrigle; forwards, Cobb, McPhail, Woodhouse, Duckworth, Lloyd.

SHORT MEETING OF R.V.C. '25 YESTERDAY

A meeting of R. V. C. '25 was held on Wednesday, Nov. 14th, at which the vice-president, Miss Cameron, took the chair owing to the absence of the president, Miss Baker. The meeting was addressed by Miss Murray, the undergraduate president, who urged that the Juniors give their full support to the undergraduate meetings, especially those before which the clauses of the constitution of the Women's Student Society are to be placed. The first of these undergraduate meetings is to take place today and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance as the purpose is very important and the meeting will only be a short one.

The business that was brought before the meeting was the appointment of a representative to the Music Society and Miss Banford was unanimously elected to the position. Then in connection with the Junior Prom, Miss Longworth and Miss Owen were asked to look after the making of a class banner and any

DR. BANCROFT PROVES VERY INTERESTING

"Blue Feathers and Blue Eyes" Fascinating Subject

MANY PRESENT

Dr. Eve Presents Speaker With Old Volume Written by Namesake

Dr. W. D. Bancroft of Cornell University last night gave what was perhaps one of the most interesting addresses heard by the Society of Sigma Xi this year. Dr. Bancroft spoke on the rather unique subject, of "Blue Feathers and Blue Eyes," a topic of which he has complete mastery. Before 8.30 the time when the meeting was scheduled to begin, the large lecture hall of the Macdonald Physics Building was packed to the doors, even in the balcony above, all the standing room was taken. As an evidence of the interest attaching to the novelty of the subject and especially colours in general, at least one-half of the audience were ladies. Among those present many prominent members of the Faculty of Science such as Dr. Eve, Dr. Ruttman, Dr. Porter, Prof. King, Dr. Barnes, Dr. Graft, Prof. Evans, and others.

Dr. Bancroft proved to be a very charming speaker and his talk was given in simple non-technical language. He has the happy faculty of punctuating his remarks throughout with touches of humour and wit, and this was greatly appreciated by the audience. On the desk were several stuffed birds of brilliant plumage such as the peacock, some birds of paradise, etc., which were used to illustrate points in the address.

Dr. Porter opened the meeting with a few words as to the purpose and aim of the Sigma Xi, viz., to learn of the secrets of nature and reveal them to the world. He introduced Dr. Bancroft, who is head of the department of Physical Chemistry at Cornell and a colloidal chemist of international repute as an eminent physical chemist and a noted public speaker on scientific subjects.

Color and Pigmentation

Dr. Bancroft began by saying that the physicist and chemist distinguish between two types of color, viz., pigment due to the absorbing of what is not seen and secondly structural colour which is not of a chemical nature but due to the physical form of the material.

As an instance, the prism makes the colours of the spectrum from white light, and the diffraction gratings act in a very similar way. He further pointed out that the colours seen from thin films are due to the fact that the only if the crest of the light waves are reflected from the corresponding position from where the hallowes reach the other side the film is colourless. When there is a dark background of any kind and the film is seen from different angles, different iridescent colours are seen. A very common example of this being the oil from automobiles as seen on wet pavements. It was then shown that there is a turbid medium of any kind, such as drops or little particles, there is a scattering of the light, an instance of this being the blue sky as seen on a clear day.

Iridescent Effects

At this point Dr. Bancroft showed several samples of chromatic emulsions which showed very decided iridescent effects. He then went on to say that in the study of colours of feathers it has been found that reds, yellows and blacks are all pigment colours, but for some unknown reason there are no pigment blues and only in rare cases pigment greens in feathers. These colours are found in plants as pigments. In the case of metallic colours in the peacock's feathers, the ruby-throat of the humming bird etc., there is not a single particle any coloured pigment. These colours as seen are all structural.

At this point in the lecture some very interesting coloured slides were thrown on the screen to demonstrate the real colour of the feathers when compared with painted feathers as seen by an artist.

Dr. Bancroft next brought out the fact that the iridescent colours of these feathers are discernible in any uniform light could not be prismatic. He then went on to show that of the structural colours, one of the most important is white, that the sensation of white was received always when light was reflected from a roughened statement. It as here demonstrated that the colour of white feathers, bark, hair, flowers, etc. was due to the diffused reflection in the bark and animal hair, this being produced by air bubbles. The speaker said that the color black was experienced when all the light was absorbed. Harker, a German, he said, showed that in feathers of the peacock type there is a black pigment and above this a layer of bubbles of air, thus only a certain amount of the light is reflected back.

In speaking of the eye, Dr. Bancroft said that at the back of the eye there was a black pigment and immediately in front of this a turbid medium.

People with blue and grey eyes, he said, have no pigment in front of the eye, those with brown and dark eyes, on the contrary, have a certain amount of pigment in the front of the eye. This fact led on to the point that the color of green feathers is a case of structural blue with a pigment yellow superimposed on it.

As regards theories in explanation of the colours of feathers, the speaker said that in certain circles that certain solid pigments on the feathers give the iridescent effects, but, Dr. Bancroft held and proved conclusively was that there is a thin film about one-fifty-thousandth of an inch in thickness on the feathers, this with the black background and the air-bubbles giving changing colours. These changes may be observed from any angle, sometimes changing enormously from green all the way to a golden orange. As an interesting point, the speaker brought out the fact by thickening the feathers of white pigeons or painting them with a black background it was possible to produce all the effects as seen in blue-birds, peacocks, etc.

Some very interesting pictures were thrown on the screen showing the manner in which a flounder or sole adapts himself to his surroundings. These fish change colour to correspond with their background, even to imitating fairly well geometrical patterns. These slides marking the close of the lecture were very unusual, illustrating, as they did, the protective use of coloring in the animal and plant life.

Dr. Eve then moved a vote of thanks to Dr. Bancroft and in doing so presented the speaker with a volume, "On Permanent Colours," published in 1794 and written by Dr. Edward Bancroft. The volume, written in the quaint and charming style of the time, formerly was the property of the Earl of Mansfield.

B.H.S. GIRLS TO BE GUESTS OF R.V.C. '24

At a meeting of R.V.C. '24 which was held on Thursday, Nov. 15th, the question of entertaining the B.H.S. girls was brought up. After much animated discussion, it was decided that the class offer some form of entertainment to the guests of R.V.C. '24 who are at Macdonald College in the B.H.S. Course, as well as to the various new members who joined the class this year. As this entertainment will not take place till after Christmas, no definite arrangements were decided upon. Other items of business of the meeting were letter of appreciation from Mrs. Pegg, a former member of the class, and the election of Miss Jean Matheson as class representative to the Music Club.

SOCIETE VISITED CHAT. DE RAMEZAY

Valuable Treasures Viewed in Historic Spot

A number of the members of the Societe Francaise took advantage of the opportunity offered by the Societe to visit the Chateau de Ramezay Thursday afternoon.

The venerable edifice was built in 1706, during the regime of Claude de Ramezay eleventh governor of Montreal. This neighborhood was then the fashionable part of the town, and the time of its founder the Chateau was the hall of entertainment of the illustrious of the country. In 1825 the Numismatic and Antiquarian Society of Montreal obtained the building for the purpose of founding their Historical Portrait Gallery and Museum, and have since succeeded in collecting many valuable and curious relics.

On their arrival at the Chateau the party first descended to inspect the vaults. In one vault the first printing press in Montreal was set up, in 1776, by Megllets, who accompanied Benjamin Franklin and the other two envoys sent by Congress in the spring of that year. This second vault contains many objects of historical interest, such as Lord Durham's carriage, a curious two-wheeled vehicle, which was brought from England in 1826. Another vault was used for storage purposes, while another which contains a great fire-place, served as a kitchen, and the last one was a bakery.

The party then visited the French salon, in which there are some beautiful oil paintings, and old furniture, and a tapestry after Le Brun of the Arms of Louis XVI. The English Salon, the Council Room, the De Vaudreuil Room and all the others were also seen with much interest. In the Ante-Room there is an ancient barrel organ, presented by George III, to Thuyendanege, great chief of the Six Nations. One of the party could not resist trying this instrument, and perhaps the donor and the recipient turned over in their graves as through the spacious halls were heard to echo the melodious strains of—"Yes, We Have No Bananas."

Among the most interesting sights is the Habitant Room, containing a collection of farm house furniture generally made by French Canadian farmers in years gone by such as

MECHANICALS VISIT SUGAR REFINING CO.

Party to Assemble at Union at 2:00 P.M.

THIS AFTERNOON

Paper Mill at Grand'Mere to be Visited Next

This afternoon the Mechanical Club will visit the St. Lawrence Sugar Refineries, Ltd., at 2366 Notre Dame St. East. The party will leave the Union at 2:00 p.m.

Raw sugar is imported from the West Indies, the chief sugar-growing islands being Cuba, Porto Rico, Jamaica, Barbados, Trinidad and St. Christopher (better known as St. Kitts). Sugar is also grown extensively on the main land throughout Central and South America, the chief exports centres being British Guiana and Nicaragua.

The sugar cane stalks are crushed in very heavy rollers driven by steam, 80 per cent of the juice being extracted, and a washing of the crushed cane gets an additional 5 per cent. The crushed stalk, which is called bagasse, is then used for fuel in the boilers that run the engines in the sugar mill. The juice is evaporated in vacuum pans, which save more sugar and require much less skill than when the juice is boiled in open vats, because the evaporation takes place in the vacuum at a much lower temperature and therefore there is less danger of burning. The effect of this process is to form raw sugar (commonly known as brown sugar) and molasses. The former product is refined into white sugar, and the latter is distilled to form rum. It is the refining process that will be seen this afternoon.

The trip arranged for next Saturday is one to the Laurentide Pulp and Paper Company at Grand'Mere. The party will leave the Windsor Station at 11:30 a.m. on Friday, 23rd inst., in a special sleeper. While at Grand'Mere the party will be the guests of the Laurentide Company, and will return Saturday evening, arriving back in Montreal at 9:30 p.m. The C.P.R. are granting a special rate of $5.00 return fare, and the berths are $2.25 for an upper and $2.75 for a lower. A similar trip arranged by the Pulp and Paper Club last year was a great success and all who are interested are strongly urged to join the party. All who wish to go must pay in their tickets the money to G. M. Dick, Room 7, Presbyterian College, or to any other member of the Executive Committee before 12 o'clock noon on Wednesday 21st inst. It might be well to mention in passing that the Executive have not overlooked the fact that the Junior Prom. is being held on the evening of the 23rd inst. As was announced in the Daily for Thursday, Nov. 8th, arrangements were made to hold this trip to-day, but as this date proved inconvenient to the Laurentide Company it was necessary to postpone the trip for one week, which unfortunately happens to be the day after the Junior Prom.

GOOD MUSIC AT UNION JAZZ TEA

Members of Mandolin Club Play

The noise of clattering dishes and the sound of high pitched voices became subdued as the many assembled in the Union Cafeteria to be engrossed in the sweet strains of "I love you," rendered by the Mandolin Club orchestra at the Jazz Tea last evening.

Many who ambled along Sherbrooke St. on their way home from a four o'clock lecture were attracted by the sound of jazz and promptly decided that they needed at least a cup of tea. At 5.15 every chair in the dining room was occupied proving that the postponing of the event from Thursday to Friday did not detract any from its popularity. Saxophone, banjo, Mandolin, and piano combined to render in perfect rhythm the most popular jazz pieces, and as each one was concluded hearty clapping signified a desire for more. The Teas will be continued on each Thursday evening at 4.45 o'clock.

a grandfather's clock, a spinning wheel more than two hundred years old, and a curious combination chair and table. There is also in this room a stone archway from the rear of the house of Champlain, the founder of Quebec, at Brouage, France.

It is impossible to mention or to attempt to describe the many paintings, the portraits of famous people in the Elgin Gallery, the Antiquities, the coats-of-arms, the historical documents, the Egyptian and Indian relics which the Chateau de Ramezay possesses. One must see these things to appreciate them. It is felt that the enterprise of the Societe Francaise in undertaking this tour was very successful.

THE THREE NUTS

Foreword: Three members of the staff of the honourable and ancient McGill college publication, who are admittedly Nuts, though the terms are not synonymous, have been horrified at the lack of an unofficial bureau of information and help. They have determined to reserve a small section of the "Daily", very irregularly, which would contain news that should appeal to those readers unable to appreciate its usual high literary flavor. Any undergraduates who have worries, wishes or wants, should address themselves to "The Three Nuts." They may feel perfectly confident of receiving sympathy and attention, whether they be freshmen or seniors—or even co-eds. Already several interesting topics have been brought to the notice of the Nuts, and one of them is published herewith.

The Arts Building.

Dear Three Nuts: (Or should I address you as Three Dear Nuts?) I am worried. It is not a nice way to be; in fact, I am much worried. The other day, after a night before, I went to sleep in a lecture on China. (It might have been in China as far as I know, for I was only there in body; my spirit was with the night before). The professor crept up to me like an alarm clock and bawled in my ear, "Nine o'clock, get up." I did so, very speedily! Now, I'm not sensitive, but everybody laughed. Also, every time I call up a certain young lady to ask her for a dance, she says in a voice which is sweet and low, "It's nine o'clock, get up." Now, dear Three Nuts, or Three Dear Nuts, what am I to do?

Yours sleepily,

E. N. G. Frosh.

Nuts' Note: Stay awake next time, Frosh, old boy. The lecture wasn't in China, either. But how does one creep up like an alarm clock, anyway? The Three Nuts.

the mystery rooms. Tin-lined to obviate electrical interference, they contain the boards and panels of dials and valves that in some manner mystifying to the average layman, the ethereal waves are made to serve him.

The first of these two small rooms contains the power amplifiers and the second of these contains the rectifiers, oscillators and modulators which are adjusted for a given radiation. The plant has a two and one half Kilowatt output.

The installation was originally made by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co., and was recently renovated. While impressive and efficient its operator would seem to be substantiated in his statement that station C. K. A. C. is the most simple of its size in America, since it receives but the scant attention which he can give it while attending to the multifarious duties of programme originator and announcer.

Mr. Carter the man in charge showed every courtesy to the visiting party led by its president, Mr. J. L.

NEW SOCIETY FOR WOMEN DISCUSSED

R.V.C. Undergraduate Society Approves Points of Constitution

A short meeting of the R. V. C. Undergraduate Society was held on Friday, Nov. 16th, in the Common Room. The main issue of the meeting was the discussion of the constitution which has been recently prepared for the Women's Student Society. The first four articles of the constitution were discussed and approved. Namely that the society be known as the Women's Student Society; that the membership include active and honorary members, the fee for active membership being $2.50. The third article stated the aim of the Society, which is to promote the general interest of woman students in social and academic work. The fourth article dealt with the duties of the officers of the Society.

Other items of business which came before the meeting were the deciding upon the price of the tickets for the The Dansant, at seventy-five cents each, and also the appointment of Miss Eardley to the The Dansant Committee to act in place of Miss Hustin, who was suddenly called home for an indefinite time. It was announced that a wreath had been placed in the Arts Building from the R. V. C. Undergraduate Society on Armistice Day in commemoration of those who had fallen in the cause of glory.

Other business included the reading of a letter of application from The Federated Charities. As the constitution of the New Society is quite lengthy it was considered more convenient to hold a series of short meetings for the discussion of it, so another meeting was called for one o'clock on Monday in the Common Room, when every one is requested to be on time.

Student Mayor

Rarely can a college boast such a celebrity as a mayor among its student body. The Utah Agricultural College is to be favored. Mr. Walter Fuhrman is the only candidate on the ticket for president of the town board of Providence, Cache County, Utah. The president of the board corresponds to the position of mayor in larger municipalities.

Phil—Well, it's nearer than ever before.

Millar who states that the Radio Club contemplates similar trips to the Marconi and Northern Electric stations, which together with La Presse form the nucleus of Montreal's broadcasting facilities.

The important announcement was made by Mr. Cartier that La Presse is at present receiving the Sunday concerts of station Radiola of Paris and that arrangements are being made to re-broadcast these to Montreal and vicinity.

TENNIS AT FURMAN

Of all the sports in college, undoubtedly the one in which the largest number of students take part but to which the college authorities give the least attention and aid, is Tennis. This situation is more or less true in all colleges, but right now it is particularly so in Furman.

We have a total enrollment of about 450 students. Already 140 have joined the Tennis Club. At least a score of the members of the two football squads will join in the Spring, hence the total membership will easily reach 150 or more. This means more than 33 per cent of all our students are enthusiastic tennis players. Yet, our only provision for these boys is three: Four uneven and undersized courts—without sufficient back-stops that is, each court is being shared by approximately 35 boys. Why, wonder then, if Furman doesn't win the State championship in intercollegiate tennis?

With the size of Furman, and particularly with the large number of students desiring to play tennis, we should have from a dozen to a score good courts properly looked after at all times—but instead, we have only four, and none too good.
